Tradition proves high quality Silkworm is beneficial to rapidly add weight to koi, reliable availability has always been the issue. Even when you could find Silkworm, without immediate use or sophisticated storage it tends to spoil rapidly making the lipid quality suspect. Furthermore, feeding oxidized Silkworm has been shown to cause "Sekoke Disease".

FEEDING

Regularly monitor your temperature and adjust feedings as required, never over feed.

Above 20°C(68°F)

Silkworm Selects™ should comprise 20% to 40% of total amount fed and be mixed with the other Hikari koi diets. Using this mix, feed 2 to 4 times per day the amount your fish will consume within 5 minutes.

Below 20°C(68°F)

We strongly recommend using Silkworm Selects™ primarily as a treat comprising no more than 10% of the total amount fed. For colder temperatures we recommend Hikari Wheat-Germ.

Note: Silkworm Selects™ contains higher levels of natural ingredients which may cause a slight change in color from one production lot to another. Rest assured because of our rigid quality standards each package meets our superior nutritional specifications.
